ATTENTION DEACONS and everyone else, too

At the most recent meeting of our elders and deacons, the matter of making sure our building was secured after each service was discussed. We don't have anyone who has the responsibility of doing that each week, so the following solution was decided.

The deacons will take turn about in seeing that the restrooms are in order, all lights are turned off, the alarm is set, and all the doors are locked. Beginning today, we will do that in alphabetical order.

May 4—Chris Bragwell

May 11—Kenny Brown

May 18—Jeff Cronin

May 25—Tom Miller

June 2—Jeff Whitaker

Fellow deacons, if you are going to be away the week you are scheduled, be sure to arrange a switch with one of the others and inform Kenny Brown of the change. By the way, this will include both services on Sunday and the following Wednesday evening service.

Everyone can help with this, too. When you exit the restroom, make sure the commode is flushed and the lights are off. And, while we want you to visit before and after services, please don't just lollygag (I think that's a good word here) and make the one in charge of locking up the building have to wait unnecessarily on you.

Thanks for everyone's cooperation.
